Ward Six Drive For Secession Downed in Vote

Supporters of Motion to Continue To Seek Break With Saanich

The long-fought Ward Six secession movement received another setback by action of the Saanich Council last night.

Codncillor Leslie H. Passmore's motion calling for the council to "go on record as being in favor of the Ward Six petition or any other part of the municipality wishing to take advantage of the Saanich Relief Act," was defeated by a 5-3 vote.

The motion was supported by Councillors William C. Kersey and William E. Bond. Reeve E. C. Warren and Councillors George Austin, John G. Ryan, E. P. Cummins and Kenneth R. Genn cast negative votes to kill the motion. On motion by Councillor Cummins, council decided to send results of the motion to Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald.

POWERS REMOVED

Reeve Warren said he voted against the motion because the Provincial Government, by passing the Saanich Relief Act, had taken away from the council the powers to grant secession. He contended the whole issue is in the hands of the Government.

Capt. Nat Gray told the council it seemed strange that Saanich couldn't get along without Ward Six's 2,000 residents.

"However, we are not finished yet. We will continue to strive for secession," he decared.

Municipal Affairs Minister MacDonald recently stated that he would recommend that the Government consider Ward Six secession "if Saanich Council approves." After last night's meeting, it would appear that the Minister will have good reason to turn a deaf ear towards secession supporters. They claim, however, that they have met all legal requirements for secession, and therefore should be granted it.

CHANGES MIND

Dr. M. D. McKichan, Saanichton, wrote to the council, stating that many Ward Six residents who formerly supported secession now regret having signed the petition. He urged that another vote be taken before any action is contemplated.

Sydney Pickles, president of the Ward Six Ratepayers' Association, said late last night a delegation will seek an interview with Mr. MacDonald.

The train, carrying almost 100 news and radio correspondents and British and American officials, is scheduled to arrive this afternoon at the border crossing point of Helmstedt in the British zone. The train is expected to cross into the Russian zone at 2:13 a.m. tomorrow.

Dies in Jail

Gerald Clifford Gordon, 33, of Port Alberni, being held by Vancouver city police en route to Oakalla, died in the city jail at midnight.

Vancouver police say Gordon was admitted to jail at 5:10 p.m. yesterday and became violent five hours later.

BUFFALO, N.Y., May 10 (AP).—Mrs. Julia Christensen of Toronto, editor of the Magazine Digest, temporarily has been refused entry into the United States, the United States Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization said today.

Hands Arsonist To B.C. Police

NELSON, B.C., May 10 (CP).—British Columbia Police tonight announced the Sons of Freedom faction of the Doukhobor sect have delivered over 38-year-old Peter Swetlishkoff, charged with arson.

The police said Swetlishkoff has been charged with the 1943 burning of a jam factory at Brilliant, B.C., near this West Kootenay centre.

Swetlishkoff has been the object of combined Provincial Police and R.C.M.P. raids following recent outbreaks of fire recently in the district.

Police divulged the sought-after member of the radical sect was surrendered after lengthy negotiations.

He was handed over at Krestova—15 miles east—to a provincial constable after a mass meeting where prayers were offered and hymns sung. The police said about 100 Sons, who differ from the main group of Doukhobors in their desire to retain original Doukhobor customs, participated.

Swetlishkoff was brought here where he denied having participated in the burning more than three weeks ago of the $85,000 new school at nearby Tarrys.

Trouble began in the area when Peter Verigin's tomb was blasted a month ago. Verigin was a former spiritual leader. Other buildings were burned, bringing squads of Provincial Police and R.C.M.P. to patrol the area. No other violence has been reported for more than a week.

Police said Swetlishkoff, who confessed before a commission investigating the Doukhobor question last year to participating in night burning raids, will appear shortly before a magistrate.

Ford Tie-Up Growing; Talks Fail

DETROIT, May 10 (AP).—The first peace talks since the start of the six-day Ford strike broke up today with no settlement in sight.

Another session was scheduled tomorrow.

As the talks went on, more Ford plants prepared to lay off 14,000 workers and shut down at the end of the day's operations.

The strike of 85,000 workers, over union charges of a speed-up, hit Ford's Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants last Thursday.

Before the talks were adjourned, about 75 Ford workers set up picket lines outside. President Walter P. Reuther of the United Auto Workers (C.I.O.) said the demonstration was "engineered by Communists.

Officials of the Ford Motor Company have estimated that nearly all of its 106,000 production workers in 49 plants will be affected by next Monday if the strike continues.

Truck Mishap Hurts Seven

PORT ALBERNI, May 10.—Seven mill workmen narrowly escaped death at 5 p.m. today when the truck in which they were riding plunged through a bridge guardrail on the Cherry Creek Road and dropped 20 feet to a stream.

Five of the men are in the West Coast General Hospital suffering major and minor injuries. Two suffered shock and bruises.

The men were riding in a truck owned by George Chamberland, at whose mill they are employed.

Police said a tie-rod end on the truck had broken.

Separate Engineer Views Arena Ceiling

Independent Survey Made; Council Queries Opening Date

An independent engineer has been called in to inspect the Memorial Arena ceiling, Alderman Edward Williams, acting chairman of the arena committee, told an informal meeting of the City Council in the mayor's office last night.

"It's no secret now," explained Alderman Williams. "He's been here and we'll have his report in several days."

Charles T. Hamilton, regular consulting engineer on the arena project, had notified council he would have a report ready within a few days. His report was to be based on findings which he had made through a personal inspection of the ceiling.

WITHIN MONTH

When members of council asked him to set a date on which the doors of the arena could be thrown open to the public, Mr. Hamilton said it could be ready within a month.

"I wouldn't let anybody in that building until we are sure the ceiling sheets are secure," declared Alderman Williams. "We'll have no assurance that this is so until we have Mr. Hamilton's report and the report of the other engineer and have a meeting to decide what we're going to do."

"I can see no reason why you can't get in there within a month," stated Mr. Hamilton.

"I've heard you say we could get in by May 15," returned Alderman Williams.

"You've still got all your fixtures to put in," reminded Alderman Aubrey Kent.

"I can't see by any stretch of the imagination how you can be sure we can be in there within 30 days," commented Alderman Waldo Skillings.

ASKS NEW SCHEDULE

He asked Mr. Hamilton to draw up a new work schedule and put pressure on sub-contractors to see that work is completed on dates specified.

"As acting chairman of the arena committee I don't want any dates set for completion until the engineers' reports are in," asserted Aldermans Williams. "Then council can decide whether to take the advice of one contractor or the other or both."

He declared he would resign from the arena committee if council "went over his head" in coming to a decision regarding throwing arena doors open to the public.

Questioned by Mr. Hamilton regarding the name of the independent contractor employed by the city to inspect loose ceiling sheets, Alderman Williams said he was not at liberty to divulge the information.

Mr. Hamilton said he had met a man at the arena during the afternoon from Seattle by the name of Rising. From conversation with the man, Mr. Hamilton said it was his opinion he was not an engineer.

QUALIFIED FIRM

Alderman Williams said the city was getting a report from a firm of qualified engineers.

Mr. Hamilton said it was the first intimation he had that the city had called in another engineer.

Throughout the informal meeting in the mayor's office, which followed a regular meeting in the Council Chamber, a spotlight of interrogation was turned on Mr. Hamilton in an attempt to learn why there had been delays in arena construction and to what extent ceiling sheets had torn loose.

Mayor George explained he had called the meeting in view of a difference of opinion between Mr. Hamilton and the contractors as to how the job should be done.

"Since I called the meeting I've been informed a better basis of understanding has been arrived at since Mr. Hamilton's arrival in the city today," stated the mayor.

"PROPAGANDA"

Mayor George referred to "insidious propaganda" which had appeared in local newspapers relative to delays and bottlenecks in arena construction.

Mr. Hamilton said it was true there had been "sniping" through the columns of the newspapers.

"You can go right back to the time the first contract was let," he added.

"I've wondered and wondered at these statements," he mused. He said it was impossible "to get at them" unless the confidence of the newspapers could be won and their sources of information laid bare.

"We still don't know when the arena is going to be finished," put in Alderman Kent. "Surely that is up your alley."

He declared the public wanted to know when the arena was going to be completed. He referred to the

Saanich Voting May 28

Saanich ratepayers will vote on a $270,000 road construction by-law and a $31,000 by-law for school purposes on Saturday, May 28.

Council last night appointed John B. Tribe, municipal clerk, returning officer for the by-laws, and named the usual polling stations. The school by-law will be for residents of School District No. 61 only.

Total cost of the extraordinary expenses for schools is $360,000. The Provincial Government bears half of that amount, the remainder to be divided proportionately between the areas in the school district.

For details of road work see page 10.

Arrest Driver After Chase At 85 M.P.H.

Arthur Hafer, Clark Drive, Brentwood, was arrested by Saanich police at 1:20 a.m. today after a five-mile chase at speeds hitting 85 m.p.h., according to Saanich police.

Chase started at the Black Swan on the East Saanich Road and ended at Keatings Crossroad, near the High School.

Constables Robert Adrian and Leslie Ledson, in separate prowler cars, arrested Hafer who had ducked in a lane and turned off his lights.

Hankow Move for Peace Reported in Full Swing

SHANGHAI, May 10 (AP). — A move for peace with the Reds "is in full swing" in the Hankow area, the Government's Central News Agency said today.

The agency asserted that simultaneously the battles for the "defence of the great strongpoint in Central China had begun."

(A Canton dispatch, on the other hand, gave a contrary picture. It quoted "reliable reports" that 'the bulk of the garrison is being withdrawn from Hankow to Nanchang, 160 air miles to the southeast.

(These accounts said only eight divisions, possibly 40,000 men, had been left to cover the withdrawal of the 200,000-man force to Nanchang, where it is expected to make a stand. Canton sources thought it unlikely a fight would be made for Hankow).

INTENSIFY ATTACKS

Elsewhere, the Government claimed a "decisive Nationalist victory" on the Shanghai front, and a press dispatch said the Reds had intensified their attacks on Tsingtao's outer defences.

Gunfire could be heard in Tsingtao, anchorage for the United States Western Pacific Fleet, the dispatch reported. (Navy ships at Tsingtao have steam up, ready to pull out at a moment's notice).

Central News said the battle for Hankow began when 600 Communist troops attacked a point 20 miles to the north. It said the Reds suffered 100 casualties and now were being reinforced.

(This sounded like a small operation. Actually Hankow's fate was being sealed by a swift and apparently unchecked flank-turning movement far to the southeast.

MARCH ON NANCHENG

(The Communist radio said Red troops are marching on Nancheng, 250 air miles southeast of Hankow. Nancheng is 80 miles southeast of Nanchang, which guards Hankow's land lines to South China).

Seamen Agree To Quit Ships In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP).—Twenty-nine striking Canadian Seamen's Union crew members tonight peacefully accepted warrants charging them with refusing to obey lawful commands of their ships' officers and agreed to quit two strike-bound vessels by morning.

The move came as violence threatened to flare again on the tense waterfront. A dozen city police, led by Chief Constable Walter Mulligan, served the warrants on the crews of the Eastern-owned Ss. Islandside and Ss. Rockside at separate docks.

The warrants were obtained by Capt. William A. Alexander and Capt. Gaston Roussead.

SUBMIT AFTER TALK

At first, crews of the vessels refused to lower the gangplanks, but submitted after a conference with James Thompson, West Coast vice-president of the T.L.C.-affiliated C.S.U.

After the conference, Thompson announced the men had agreed to pack their gear and be taken into police custody in the morning. It was expected bail will be sought.

Meanwhile, 26 seamen, five union representatives and a number of pickets have been ordered to leave the Ss. Seaboard Star at a North Vancouver wharf. A Supreme Court injunction also banned picketing of the vessel.

The Star, with a C.S.U. crew aboard, has been unable to load or discharge cargo since its arrival on May 4. It is one of five struck vessels here.

Tories Claim Voting Gain

LONDON, May 10 (CP).—The swing to the right shown last month in county council elections is continuing in this week's local elections, results showed tonight.

The Conservative Party claimed it scored a net gain of 108 seats and Labor took a net loss of 37 in 68 of 303 urban districts.

"Mystery Man" Walks Streets In City Today

A "mystery man" will walk Victoria's streets today.

Best clue available at press time this morning was that the "mystery man" would be on Yates Street between Blanshard and Broad Streets between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m.

It all ties in with the May 24 celebrations, with a "mystery man" abroad every day until May 23.

There is a daily prize for identification, with the reward building each day until discovery is made.

In order to win, the person approaching the "mystery man" must hold a membership certificate. "Are you the mystery man?" is the approach. If it is, "he" will autograph the ticket to be turned in at 1110 Government Street, celebration headquarters, for the prize.

Many people on the allotted streets for today can expect to be approached as the novel contest gets under way.

Huge Acreage Said Leased By Oil Firms

REGINA, May 10 (CP).—A surge of oil activity during the last month in Southern Saskatchewan has resulted in the acquisition of several hundred thousand acres of leases by at least two companies, oil company spokesmen said today.

Main companies concerned are Imperial Oil Company and Rio Bravo, a subsidiary of Superior Oil Company of California.

SOUTHEAST CORNER

An Imperial Oil representative said his company has acquired at least 500,000 acres of leases east and south of Arcola, in the province's southeast corner, during the last month.

He said the leases "checkerboard" the favorable structure east and south to the boundaries of Manitoba and North Dakota.

Rio Bravo has also checkerboarded the same area, he said, but more thinly.

Imperial considered this leasing a "protection play," resulting from activity in Manitoba and North Dakota. Last week a well was spudded near Lyleton, Man., nine miles east of the Saskatchewan boundary.

GIVEN ASSISTANCE

The well is being drilled by the Souris Valley Oil Company and assisted by Imperial Oil through purchases of leases.

"If oil is struck there," said the Imperial Oil representative, "it will be a big thing for Saskatchewan. The same type of formation extends right through the province in a northwesterly direction. The favorable area is so large that it is going to take years to find out how much of it is productive.

Urges 'Outside' Car Toll To Swell Civic Coffers

A delegation from the Greater Victoria Property Owners' Association asked City Council yesterday to impose a $1 tax on all "outside" cars entering the city as a means of swelling civic coffers.

Reginald Clarke, Sr., treasurer of the organization, said he had been informed "on good authority" 87,000 outside cars visited Victoria last year.

He said his proposal would not harm the tourist trade. He explained fees could be collected at the docks and on the Island Highway.

AGAINST RAISE

Referring to a recent suggestion that the mayor's salary be raised, Mr. Clarke declared such a move would not be "opportune at present in view of the rise in the mill rate." He asked aldermen to serve without indemnity for the remainder of this year.

Both Mr. Clarke and Harold Ker, president of the association expressed opposition to the increase in the mill rate. They stated council should impose a business tax and seek a higher percentage share of the sales tax.

Mr. Ker suggested assessments should be raised and Crown lands taxed. He said council should seek to have implemented all recommendations contained in the Goldenberg report.

Mr. Clarke asserted council should change the Royal Athletic Park agreement to make it a money-making proposition.

With the exception of the tax on tourist cars, Mayor George told the delegation, every one of its suggestions had been investigated by council and representations made to the Provincial Government relative to them.

Largest Graduates List Released by University

University of British Columbia yesterday released its 1949 scholarship roll and a list of 2,000 graduates—largest in the university's history.

Publication of the list of successful Victoria students was impeded last night by the failure of the university authorities to give home towns of graduates opposite the names on its published list.

The list published on Page 5 in The Colonist today is as complete as possible under the circumstances. Volunteers from Victoria students recently attending U.B.C. worked three hours last night in The Colonist office to check names of Victorians on the list.

The seven volunteers went through the 2,000-name roster several times and made it as complete as possible.

MAY BE MISSING

The volunteers emphasized that some names of successful Victoria graduates may have been missed despite the care taken.

The Colonist will answer telephone enquiries today from interested persons who think their names may have been overlooked.

John Robert Hugh Dempster of Vancouver was awarded the Governor-General's Gold Medal for heading this year's students graduating with Bachelor of Arts degree.

Among an impressive list of scholarship winners was a Victoria girl, Shirley Winifred Pinchin, recently married daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Olson, 1543 Despard Avenue, who won the $100 Parent-Teacher Federation prize for home economics. She also was awarded The Vancouver Sun home economics prize.

Another Vancouver student, George Albert Peller, won the university medal for arts and science, an award made to the leading student of the humanities and social sciences in the B.A. graduating class.

Envoy Unable To Get Visas

OTTAWA, May 10 (CP).—Ronald MacDonnell, Canadian Charge D'Affaires at Prague who was ordered to make a fact-finding report on alleged religious and political persecutions in Bulgaria, Hungary and Romania, has been unable to gain access to the latter two countries, the External Affairs Department said today.

Officials said Mr. MacDonnell had applied for visas to Hungary and Romania, but his request had not been answered by either country.

Probable Race to Berlin Worries British Officials

HELMSTEDT, May 10 (AP).—At Elbe River near Magdeburg in the Berlin-bound vehicle derby worried British military authorities today.

When the Russian zonal border barrier goes up at 12:01 a.m. Thursday, the four-lane highway to Berlin may look like Indianapolis speedway.

News correspondents have lined up their fastest cars for a midnight dash to be first into Berlin.

British military authorities were considering putting an official car in the lead to pace the traffic. One proposal was that a British provost officer lead the way in a fast car, with all others compelled to stay in line behind him.

Most of those breaking away from the barrier at midnight will be correspondents or British and American officials.

British military traffic probably will not move before dawn. A group of "sappers" may go ahead of the military convoy to test the road and bridges for safety. No big military vehicles have moved over the Helmstedt-Berlin highway since the Russians clamped down their blockade on land travel to Berlin last June.

One big question was the condition of the highway bridge over the Elbe River near Magdeburg in the Russian zone. This bridge was declared unsafe by the Russians last year, shortly before the blockade began, and traffic was diverted to a nearby ferry which ran only in daylight hours.

Germans and neutrals who have traveled the Helmstedt-Berlin highway during the blockade report that the bridge is passable but shaky. British authorities were trying to find out from the Russians whether it will be usable.

Political News

New Political Group Launched in Victoria

A new political group which, spokesmen say, is not a political party, has blossomed in Victoria and gives promise of a three-way fight in the June 15 provincial election.

Five candidates have announced they are running in Greater Victoria. Plans are afoot to nominate another in Esquimalt, and spokesmen for the group, called the "Union of Electors," said candidates will be put up all through the province.

Those who have announced they will run in Victoria are William Clark, manager of the Dominion Hotel; Mrs. D. Lougheed, wife of M. P. Lougheed, prominent Social Crediter, and Mrs. E. M. Bell.

JUKES TO RUN

Major A. H. Jukes, another prominent Social Crediter, plans to run under the Union banner in Saanich. He said the group, which operates gether, forgetting party, for the independently in each constituency, good of the community.

plans to have candidates throughout the Province and has already named 50 persons to run in the Federal contest.

Claude Wright is the choice in Oak Bay.

Mr. Clark explained the ideas of the groups in this way:

"It is not a party," he said. "In the past the country has been represented by Liberals, Conservatives, Social Crediters, C.C.F. and what have you.

"This is an organization of the people and not of parties . . ."

"Our task is to change the direction of government. Actually this means less government, less taxes and less regulation and restriction."

Said Major Jukes: "It has been demonstrated that the way not to get things done is the party way. We have no rigid platform. It is the same prinicple as a ratepayers' association where everyone gets to-

Drive for Export Marts Pledged by P.C. Chief

SYDNEY, N.S., May 10 (CP).—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said tonight that a government under his leadership will take steps to recapture Canada's export markets.

In his first Federal election campaign speech, broadcast over a C.B.C. national network, Mr. Drew said:

"When called upon to assume the responsibility of government, we will immediately take steps, not only to recapture those Canadian export markets which we held before, but also to find new markets in those countries throughout the world which need the things we produce and can buy them, if only we break the deadlock resulting from the exchange barrier between the dollar and the sterling areas."

The party leader stressed the question of Canada's trade relations, but he also mentioned several points in the Progressive Conservative platform. He said the party's social security program includes:

"1. Adequate old-age pensions at 65 without a means test.

"2. Accident, sickness and disability benefits.

"3. Extended unemployment insurance benefits — to include payment for time lost due to accident or sickness.

"4. Family allowances regardless of the number of children.

"5. A national health program, including promotion of improved nutritional standards and effective preventative health services to assist research and control of cancer, arthritis and other diseases and to provide assistance for the construction of hospitals, health and recreational centres."

Mr. Drew also said that a government under his leadership would amend the Criminal Code to deal with Communists. He said:

"An amendment can be made to the Criminal Code which will make it possible to deal effectively with those who are working to destroy the decent things we wish to conserve, without in any way limiting the full freedom of every Canadian who is loyal to Canada."

Premier Starts Busy Schedule

Premier Byron I. Johnson will return from Toronto today to resume his high-gear election campaign throughout the Province.

Today at 8 p.m. the Premier will appear at a Coalition meeting in the Women's Institute Hall, Royal Oak. Thursday he will speak in Duncan and on Friday he is scheduled to give speeches in Chilliwack and New Westminster.

Saturday he will fly to Whitehorse to begin a week-long sweep of the North Country, where C.C.F. Leader Harold Winch recently campaigned and where the C.C.F. hope to gain some seats.

Beginning in Atlin the Premier will spend next week at Fort St. John, Dawson Creek, Prince George, Vanderhoof, Burns Lake, Smithers, Hazelton and Prince Rupert, returning to Vancouver Monday.

He will spend the following Tuesday in Nanaimo, Wednesday in Courtenay, Thursday in Port Alberni and return to Victoria on Friday.

The next week he will start a 10-day swing through the Interior. The last three or four days before the election on June 15, he will concentrate his attention on Vancouver and his home constituency of New Westminster.

GRAND FORKS, May 10 (CP).—"Powder keg" conditions in the Doukhobor country may force cancellation of $500,000 worth of fire insurance, Grand Forks Mayor Ora Stephenson told Vancouver Board of Trade officials on tour here.

Asking the board to throw its weight behind Attorney-General Gordon Wismer for positive action, Mayor Stephenson said "Victoria and Vancouver do not realize how desperate the situation is here as a result of the Doukhobor insurrection."

Irish Dail Calls on Britain To End "Occupation" of North

DUBLIN, May 10 (Reuters).—The Dail today unanimously passed a resolution moved by Prime Minister John A. Costello calling on Britain "to end the present occupation" of Northern Ireland.

The motion was seconded by Eamon de Valera, leader of the Opposition.

The resolution recorded an "indignant protest" against the introduction in the British House of Commons of the Ireland Bill, which guarantees Northern Ireland's present status.

It described the British Bill, which comes up for second reading this week, as "purporting to endorse and continue the existing partition of Ireland."

The resolution called on the British Government "to end the present occupation of our six north-eastern counties and thereby enable the unity of Ireland to be restored and age-long differences between the two nations brought to an end."

Costello said the British Bill gave "full British backing to the partition of Ireland."

"British Governments—Tory and Labor—will lose nothing from a peaceful and friendly Ireland, but will give nothing to Ireland unless she becomes a nuisance to them," he said.

CORNETT TO RUN

VANCOUVER, May 10 (CP).—John W. Cornett, Mayor of Vancouver from 1941-1946, was named tonight to contest the Federal riding of Vancouver South for the Progressive Conservative Party. The nomination was unanimous.

Fare Increase Approved For Railways

MONTREAL, May 10 (CP). — The Railway Association of Canada today announced that the Transport Board has approved increases ranging up to 15 per cent in first class fares in Canada and the new rates will come into effect after midnight tonight.

The increase is equal to the Federal transportation tax repealed by the Federal budget in March.

A month ago the railways automatically increased coach-class fares 15 per cent. Because coach-class fares had been sub-standard no Transport Board approval was needed to raise them.

A railway spokesman said that although the Transport Board authority covers increases up to 15 per cent, full advantage of this will not be taken in all cases, depending on certain complicating factors such as competition.

A case where the boost would be considerably lower than 15 per cent, he said, is in the one-way first-class fare from Montreal to Vancouver. The present tariff is $99.80 and after midnight it will be increased by only $2.

Republic Aim

JOHANNESBURG, May 11 (Wednesday) (Reuters). — The political correspondent of the Rand Daily Mail said today Prime Minister Daniel Malan told a caucus of his Nationalist Party the time is not yet politically ripe for establishment of a republic in South Africa, but a republic remains the party's aim.

U.S. Wants to See Germany United With Freedom Guaranteed Says Clay

BERLIN, May 10 (AP).—Gen. Lucius D. Clay said today Americans want to see Germany united, provided all sections have "the same guarantees of freedom as contained in the Bonn constitution."

Clay, retiring in five days from the position of United States military governor, spoke at a farewell ceremony in the German Bizonal Economic Council at Frankfurt.

A constitution containing an elaborate bill of rights was adopted for the Western zones of Germany by a German parliamentary convention at Bonn, Sunday.

SIMILAR TO BRITAIN

Clay's remark paralleled a statement last week by the British military governor, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, that the West was determined not to bargain away fundamental democratic rights at the four-power Foreign Ministers' Conference opening in Paris, May 23.

The Bonn constitution excludes the Soviet zone for the present. Convention leaders said the Soviet zone did not guarantee the democratic rights, including free elections, that exist in the Western zones.

Clay told the Germans to strive towards three things: To understand liberty, to have the will never to give it up, and to use their liberty properly.

Russia apparently served notice today she will not support any changes in Germany's redrawn Eastern frontiers.

Walter Ulbricht, chairman of the Soviet-sponsored Social Unity (Communist) Party in East Germany, declared in an interview in the party's newspaper that the Oder and Neisse Rivers "are recognized as Germany's peace border" with Poland.

SOVIET POLICY

Leaders of the Social Unity Party have acted as spokesmen for Soviet policy in the past. West Berlin newspapers had speculated that Russia might use German territory which Poland absorbed after the war as a bargaining point in dealing with the Western Allies in Paris.

Princess' Talk With Pope Said Affable

VATICAN CITY, May 10 (CP).—Princess Margaret, dressed severely in black, was received today by Pope Pius in a private audience in his personal library.

They talked 20 minutes. A Vatican communique said the conversation was affable.

SENT GREETINGS

The Pope sent his greetings to the British Royal Family and expressed hope for improvement in the health of the King, who is suffering from an impairment in blood circulation in the legs.

Princess Margaret, on vacation in Italy, visited the Pope despite the protest of two British Protestant organizations.

It was the first meeting between a Pope and British Royalty since the Princess' grandparents, King George V and Queen Mary, were received in 1923 by Pope Pius XI, predecessor of the present Pontiff.

Businessmen View New Tax As Inequitable and Disastrous

Proposed levying of a business tax based on rental assessments was protested by members of the retail merchants' section of the Chamber of Commerce at a special, sparsely-attended meeting yesterday morning.

"Such a tax would be inequitable and disastrous to many small businessmen," retiring Chairman Percy Scurrah warned.

It was decided to appoint a committee to study city finances and investigate the proposed levy.

Reduction of civic administration expenses and alternative sources of civic revenue were suggested by Mr. Scurrah as possible means of rendering imposition of the tax unnecessary.

"Appointment of a civic personnel manager with powers of hiring and firing might reduce the staff and make it more efficient," he said.

He also urged Chamber of Commerce support of any efforts on the part of City Council to secure an additional share for the city of revenue from the Provincial sales tax.

Business tax on a rental basis is "unfair," said Ald. Aubrey Kent, who advocated increase in present business licence fees as a source of additional necessary revenue.

Elected chairman of the retail merchants' section, succeeding Mr. Scurrah, was G. A. A. Hebden.

HITS CITY POLICY

City Council policy requiring demolition of dilapidated rooming houses is likely to work a hardship on many old-age pensioners, Miss M. Ronson, secretary of the Victoria Senior Citizens' Campaign Council, advised in a letter received yesterday at City Hall.

"We feel that a part of the responsibility to provide adequate housing for our elderly citizens lies with the City Council, and particularly in this case," stated Miss Ronson.

She declared sections of the city from Government Street west were in greater need of a clean-up than those parts of the city council has condemned.

SPIKE PUNCTURES TIRE

A claim was submitted to the city yesterday for compensation for a tire punctured by a railroad spike in the loose gravel on the far side of Point Ellice Bridge on May 5.

H. Cotton, care of S. Royston, R.R. 1, Saanichton, declared he picked up two similar spikes in the gravel after his tire had been flattened.

"Apparently these spikes were burned in the fill when the old street car tracks were removed and are now working to the surface, thus creating a very dangerous hazard both to pedestrians and car drivers," he stated in a letter.

Hit Fire Truck; Woman Fined, Loses Licence

Mrs. Magdalen M. R. Buckle, 1341 Monterey Avenue, driver of a car which struck a fire truck on May 5, was fined $40 and had her driver's licence suspended for two months in city police court yesterday when she pleaded guilty to a dangerous driving charge.

Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor, told Magistrate H. C. Hall the [illegible] sign at the intersection of Cook and Yates Street and was in collision with a fire truck.

Mrs. Buckle said she did stop at the intersection, but continued on across Yates Street because she thought the truck was coming behind her. She went across the intersection to stop because there was no room on the south side, she said.

The M. & K. Logging Company Ltd., 1216 Broad Stregt, was fined $25 on a charge of failing to remit to the Receiver-General of Canada certain sums of money deducted or withheld from employees' wages.

PLAN NEW CHURCH

Construction of a new $45,000 St. Barnabas' High Anglican Church will start as soon as a buyer is found for the present structure and grounds at Caledonia Avenue and Cook Street, Rev. E. G. Munn, rector of St. Barnabas, said yesterday.

The new church will be built on the southeast corner of Belmont Avenue and Begbie Street.

At least one major obstacle in the way of its being sold appeared to have been cleared away yesterday when no objection to rezoning the property from the two-family dwelling classification to commercial was voiced at a public hearing at the City Hall.

City Council Turns Aside Suggestion Of Delaying Proposed Business Tax

Suggestion that the proposed business tax by-law be held up pending approaches to the Provincial Government for a 50-50 share of the three per cent sales tax was turned aside by City Council yesterday.

The proposal was advanced by Mayor George in a letter to council.

Council voted to leave study and preparation of a business tax by-law in the hands of the finance committee where it was placed when estimates were reviewed.

Council backed the mayor's suggestion that a copy of his letter to Premier Byron Johnson be sent to all British Columbia municipalities with a request that a collective approach be made to the Government for a 50-50 share of the sales tax.

In his letter to council the mayor declared the Provincial Government through imposition of the sales tax "is depriving the municipalities of revenue which should accrue to the local body."

CITY GETS $350,000

"In the case of Victoria, it means that the city is receiving only some $350,000, or the proceeds from one cent of the entire three-cent tax, while the Provincial Government retains two-thirds or some $700,000," the mayor continued.

"It is my considered opinion that if the City Council imposes a business tax, and it should be remembered that the majority of municipalities have not recorded themselves as being in favor of the imposition of such a tax, which might be expected to bring in a worthwhile return to the city, and also increase the trade licence fees, both the business tax and increased trade licence fees will simply be passed on by the businessman to the purchaser or consumer and therefore must be viewed as merely another tax superimposed over and above the existing sales tax," the mayor contended.

"In the light of local reaction and vehement protestations, voiced in opposition to the proposed business tax, I feel that if the Provincial Government would share equally with the municipalities the revenue municipalities would be in a position to forego the business tax and thus avoid the need of the businessman imposing a further tax upon his customers," stated the mayor.

On a 50-50 share basis the mayor said the city would receive a total of $500,000 from the sales tax.

Alderman Skillings, who originally proposed imposition of a business tax, declared the finance committee should continue its investigations in case the Government offered no increase in the city share of the sales tax.

"It doesn't mean we'll put in a business tax if we study it," observed Alderman Baxter.

Alderman Harold Diggon said if a business tax was imposed large business houses would establish branches outside the city limits. He agreed, however, the committee should bring in a "broad" report on the proposal.

Alderman Williams declared reference to study of the business tax should be eliminated because it weakened the position of the city.

Mayor George objected:

"All I'm asking to be held up is a business tax by-law," he said.

Prediction Is Wrong

Scientists had the laugh on astrologists again yesterday when astrological predictions for an earthquake Monday or Tuesday failed to materialize.

The tremors were forecast by an astrology magazine for the West Coast, the Sierras or the Rocky Mountain area. According to officials at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, there were no tremors in this area.

"Earthquakes cannot be precisely predicted," insisted one official.

Export Trade Needs Long-Range Policy

TRADE Minister Howe's announcement that the United Kingdom plans to buy an additional $25,000,000 worth of goods from North America this year, chiefly from Canada, shows that good can come from trade missions to London. At the same time, though Mr. Howe may have done the best he could in the face of present obstacles, this new agreement still reflects catch-as-catch-can methods of marketing Canadian products.

So long as Britain's dollar shortage continues to be the limiting factor in trade with the Dominion, so long will the exporting industries of this country remain in a state of disheartening uncertainty, unable to plan long-range production with any assurance of adequate markets. A section of the British press regards the new agreement as showing "at least a start in the expansion of Anglo-Canadian trade," but from this distance it bears the mark of a palliative rather than cure for an increasingly serious problem to Canada.

If prices are right, the United Kingdom is to take 300,000 to 400,000 cases of British Columbia canned salmon. This will help the fishing industry on this coast, but the quantity Britain proposes to take only approximately that left in store from last season's catch after the United Kingdom turned to Russia for supplies of canned fish, refusing to buy any salmon at all from Canada. With the 1949 catch expected to exceed last year's, the fisheries are still far from being in a healthy condition.

As for additional timber sales, while every little helps, $10,000,000 spread among United States and British Columbia suppliers does not mean much to an industry in this province that has an annual production value around $250,000,000.

Socialism Would Turn Back the Clock

MORE important than the party allegiance of the particular Coalition candidate chosen to contest the Esquimalt riding in the provincial election is the desirability of presenting a united front thereafter. By all means let Liberals and Progressive Conservatives vie with one another in this specific instance, but once the nominating convention has made its decision the choice should receive wholehearted endorsement. There should be no thought of any unsuccessful aspirant seeking to run independently.

The principal issue at stake in the forthcoming election was cited clearly by Mr. Herbert Anscomb this week when he pointed to the alternative to the return to office of the Coalition administration. Success for the C.C.F. at the polls on June 15 would usher in an era of regimentation that would fall like a wet blanket on the upsurge that has marked the growth and development of British Columbia in the postwar years. Socialism, the cardinal plank in C.C.F. policies, is inevitably a hampering, restricting element to all free expression of initiative and enterprise.

Far from being a progression of human endeavor Socialism turns back the clock and clamps the iron hand of the state upon the individual. It took centuries for Western mankind to free itself from the tyranny of state control and make the state its servant rather than its master. The C.C.F. would reverse the process overnight under the guise of social progress. Real progress is obtained by putting into power a regime dedicated to the maximum of human freedom. In the case of British Columbia that is only to be secured by the re-election of the Coalition administration, and it would be regrettable if internal differences in Esquimalt prejudiced the election of a government supporter from that constituency.

High Hopes Pinned on Council of Europe

NEGOTIATIONS for the removal of the Berlin blockade tended to overshadow another event last week of wide importance to the future of Europe. This was the signing in London of the Statute of the Council of Europe by the foreign ministers of the United Kingdom, Denmark, France, the Irish Republic, Italy, Luxembourg, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden and Belgium.

It is understandable perhaps that significance of the consummation of this historic agreement among ten nations should have become submerged in the public mind under considerations affecting the more spectacular Berlin airlift. Results aimed at in discussions between the Western Powers and Russia were to be immediately apparent, those hoped to be achieved by last week's conference in London were not; indeed may not take visible shape for a long time. Ultimately, however, they may prove to be of profound significance in European history.

The main feature of the statute is the creation of a Committee of Ministers and a Consultative Assembly, which together will form the Council of Europe. Of these two bodies the committee will provide for the development of cooperation between governments, while the assembly will afford the means through which the aspirations of the European peoples may be formulated and expressed, enabling the governments thus to be kept continuously in touch with European political opinion.

It is noteworthy that questions of national defence are excluded from the scope of the council. "This," says an official communique from the conference, "is because there is no question here of any military alliance but rather a general desire to achieve peace and bring about greater unity . . ."

As epitomized by Mr. Bevin, who presided at the signing of the statute in St. James Palace, the agreement "lays the foundations of something new and hopeful in Europe."

PERSONALITY COUNTS

Sir,—With reference to "Thinking Aloud," Sunday, May 8, Mr. Taylor has omitted to mention that, in Canada and the States anyhow, a charming, forceful personality can get you farther than all the brains in the world, providing you have a reasonable amount of grey matter. Yes, even if you've never heard of Shakespeare and have always spelt "physician" with an "f."

They don't teach you that at school!

R. HARRIS.

477 Sturdee Street, Victoria, B.C.

"CITY OF FLOWERS"

Sir,—I was very glad to read in your paper of the suggestion that Victoria be officially named "The Garden City," or "The City of Gardens." I have traveled with Mrs. Scott to most parts of the world and I am quite certain that there is not another city of its size that has such a large number of very beautiful gardens as Victoria. I think it could also claim the title of "City of Flowers."

During last week we had a garden festival that attracted hundreds of garden lovers from all parts of the country and the U.S.A. As Mrs. Scott and I are comparative newcomers to the city we had not had an opportunity before this year to visit some of the city's outstanding gardens. It was a very wonderful experience, I am sure, not only to myself, but also to the many hundreds of garden lovers who had the same privilege.

Mrs. Scott's garden is a living proof of the fact that flowers simply jump up out of the ground here, for only two years ago what is today a very beautiful garden was piles of rock and broom on the top of Mt. Tolmie. It was a real inspiration to mingle with those who visited our garden and see and hear the deep pleasure it brought them. The thought occurred to me that if these few days could bring such pleasure to those fortunate enough to be here in Victoria this week, why not continue Garden Week through the Summer season and give the garden lovers who will visit us the same pleasure those who visited last week have had. I am quite sure there are a large number of owners of lovely gardens here who would be glad to share the pleasure they have with others for two or three days during the Summer months. A small charge could be made for admission and go to some worthy charity.

This is not a new idea for it has been used in England for many years. If there are any organizations or garden lovers who would be interested in doing something to get this plan started I would be glad to hear from them or to co-operate in any way I can.

E. H. SCOTT.

"White Craggs," 3441 Mayfair Drive, Victoria, B.C.

"CITY OF DOGS"

Sir,—I think the City of Gardens is a wonderful name for Victoria; but how would it be if we called it "The City of Dogs," which are overrunning our beautiful city?

There are I believe more dogs in Victoria per capita than any city in Canada. Is it possible for we who are trying to make this the City of Gardens to have protection from dogs which are over-running our gardens every day, doing untold damage?

Judging from the dogs I try to keep off my gardens, about half of them have no licence. I am only one who is becoming discouraged. Which will it be—the City of Dogs or the City of Gardens?

ARNOLD ANDERSON.

2500 Blackwood Street, Victoria, B.C.

From "Thyrsis"

Yes, thou art gone! And round me too the night
In ever-nearing circle weaves her shade.
I see her veil draw soft across the day.
I feel her slowly chilling breath invade
The cheek grown thin, the brown hair sprent with grey;
I feel her finger light
Laid pausefully upon life's headlong train;
The foot less prompt to meet the morning dew,
The heart less bounding at emotion new,
And hope, once crush'd, less quick to spring again.

—MATTHEW ARNOLD.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I SEE that Canada has recommended that the new state of Israel be admitted to the United Nations. That will be pretty fast progress for the infant nation that waited not upon the order of its formation but went ahead and grabbed while the grabbing was good.

Israel will be admitted sooner or later to the U.N., so perhaps she might as well be given the accolade now as some other time. It is intriguing to remember, nevertheless, that actually the Israelites defied the United Nations when they proclaimed their statehood, or at least ignored that body's partition plan.

Frankly, though, you can hardly blame any nation or any group about to become a nation, for losing patience with the U.N.'s eternal procrastination.

Incidentally much older states than Israel have not yet been favored with membership in the world organization. Ireland, for one, has sought the nod without success.

FRIENDS AT COURT

Israel has more friends at court, of course, to back her bid. Jewish Palestine is apt to become an important factor in world affairs, wielding an influence far out of proportion to her size and population. She will be in a unique position among nations.

Israel is the only state that has her kith and kin distributed throughout practically every white nation on earth. There are Jews everywhere, many of them holding influential voice and position in the countries of which they are citizens. Their sympathy with Israel is immense and readily forthcoming, as has already been well demonstrated. The pull of race that makes British stock in other countries look favorably on the United Kingdom, for example, will be weak by comparison for Britons or their descendants are not dispersed like Jews. Israel will have more friends everywhere even than Russia and she need not manufacture them.

One might even imagine non-Palestinian Jews finding some difficulty in reconciling their loyalties. One also trusts that Israel will use this racial advantage with wisdom.

DOOMED FROM START

Israel's success in Palestine is another example of what a single determined force can do against a conglomeration of uneasy opponents. The Arab States, even if they had had the military know-how, which except for Transjordan they lacked, were doomed from the start because of split personalities and absence of unity. At times they seemed to be more suspicious of one another than of their common enemy, and there was no real concerted action to block Jewish enthusiasm and aggressiveness.

The rights of the quarrel apart, for might has been the principal arbiter, there is no doubt that Israel will transform Palestine. The Holy Land may not be the idealized land of milk and honey that the ancient Israelites sought, but their 1949 descendants will make it as nearly so as humanly possible. The new Israelites are ambitious, eager, skilled and hard-working, and will make Palestine more fruitful than at any time in its long and storied history.

RATHER CONFUSING

It seems strange now to talk of living Israelites, the term in Gentile circles having been for so long associated with an era far back in the mists of time. Gentiles of this age will be able to make the distinction without too much trouble, but a generation or two hence students are liable to be puzzled to differentiate between the Israelites they read about in the newspapers and the Israelites that are constantly brought to their attention as they study Biblical history. Especially since the two Israels present quite different connotations.

Few people now grown to manhood could have thought as they were introduced in childhood to Moses and Joshua and the long roundabout route from Egypt to Canaan, that they would see the day when history would repeat itself in the same forceful manner.

When followed through the Biblical narrative the adventures of the ancient Israelites cause no chord of sympathy to arise for the Canaanites who were displaced. History of the past is too abstract for such emotion. But not much of this feeling seems to be evoked on behalf of the hundreds of thousands of Arabs displaced by the modern Israelites. Even the United Nations, about to recruit Israel to its membership, shows no undue concern for these innocent refugees turned out of house and home.

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—After dissolution of the Provincial House yesterday, Premier John Oliver announced that polling day will be on June 20. A plebiscite on sale of beer by the glass will be taken at the same time.

50 YEARS AGO—So popular have the E. & N. Railway Sunday excursions proved that return fares are being reduced to 25 cents to Goldstream, 75 cents to Shawnigan Lake and $1 to Duncan.

85 YEARS AGO—A great number of Northern Indians with their canoes have collected near Cadboro Point. Their appearance and movements indicate some mischief to be brewing, which should be checked before it is too late.

British Socialism a Cruel Delusion

By EUGENE C. PULLIAM
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON.—After spending ten days in England, I am at a complete loss to understand how an intelligent American could advocate the adoption of any part of the British system of Socialist government for use in America.

The contrast in living conditions in personal freedom and in opportunity is so sharp that every comparison is in America's favor. America is Utopia compared to England today. It is a common mistake of almost all people to believe that the pastures are greener on the other side of the fence. English pastures definitely are not greener, when surveyed by an American. They are drab and grim. Here are some things Americans should know and which explain why England is the uninviting place it is today:

The Government owns and operates the railroads, the buses, the trucking lines, the street railways, the electric and gas utilities, the national bank and the mines. Therefore, whenever you use any of the services of these essential utilities, you must deal with a civil servant.

The Socialist leaders have pledged themselves to take over the steel industry, all the insurance companies, the cement industry and "any other industry which doesn't do a good job for the public."

The English farmers are compelled to operate their farms strictly according to the orders of the Minister of Agriculture. Failure to follow the plan subjects the farmer to the penalty of having the Government sell the farm and put him off the land.

English housewives spend hours and hours every week in the markets trying to find enough food at a price they can afford, to keep their families going. There is no such thing as delivery service for 50 per cent of English homes.

Automobile licences cost from $45 to $265 a year. Whereas practically 50 per cent of American families have automobiles, less than 10 per cent of English families have cars. They simply cannot afford to have a car. English-made cars sell as low as $2,600—but that is still too much for the industrial worker whose wages average about $22.50 a week. Thousands upon thousands of men wear paper collars because of the high cost of shirts and laundry service.

The schoolteachers of England believe they are the forgotten victims of Socialism. When the Minister of Education scolded them for asking increased wages, the teachers answered through an official of the National Association of Schoolmasters, who said, "never in living memory were schoolmasters so seething with justifiable anger over the treatment meted out to them by the Government. Schoolmasters are being driven to the old method of evening schools to augment their salaries. They are becoming assistants to football pools (the national gambling racket in England). They are working off-times and nights mixing cement for contractors. They are acting as insurance collectors after school hours." All the teachers asked was an increase of $2.50 a week.

* * *

The Government is supposed to be a Socialist-Labor Government but the trade unions are constantly in hot water with Government officials. Unions are under the thumb of government. They must get permission to seek wage increases, and the Government can prevent strikes if it so desires. A worker cannot change jobs without the consent of government. Just this week, more than 100 leaders of local labor unions, here in London, announced that they would be candidates in the coming election, not on the Labor Party ticket, but on the Conservative ticket. They don't like the totalitarian flavor of the Socialist regime. Under Socialism the state controls the unions.

The so-called "free medicine" isn't free at all. It costs every adult person, man and woman, $100 a year. Doctors and dentists are rushed to death. Thousands of deaths are occuring because doctors cannot attend persons seriously ill. There is genuine need for greatly enlarged medical service among the industrial classes in England, but the wholesale muddling going on in socialized medicine could very well defeat the plan.

Princess on Holiday

(From The Times, London)

PRINCESS Margaret is coming to the end of the first week of her Italian holiday. When the announcement was made the visit was described as private, free from official ceremonies, though some measure of publicity was to be expected and details were officially given out of the preparations for the Princess's journey and of her outward flight. A general picture of whither the King's daughter was bound and of how she was spending her time could—and can—be given, to the legitimate satisfaction of public interest, without turning what ought to be a quiet and fruitful holiday into a diurnal bear-garden. That, without exaggeration, is the length to which unrestrained curiosity into the almost hourly doings of the Princess appears to have reduced her stay in Capri.

A host of professional observers, some armed with cameras and some in disguise, have followed her from morning until night, taking photographs from close up in the narrow streets to long distance over cliffsides, sending messages when she picked a stone out of her shoe and telling the world how she drank a glass of lemonade. If she goes barelegged the conventional absence of stockings is eagerly logged and her no more unconventional wearing of rope-soled shoes becomes an international event.

What walls can guard me, or what shades can hide?
They pierce my thickets, thro my grot they glide,
By land, by water, they renew the charge,
They stop the chariot, and they board the barge.
No place is sacred, not the church is free,
Ev'n Sunday shines no Sabbath-day to me.

This unwelcome intrusion is partly no doubt the too impetuous enthusiasm of the Italians in receiving a British princess as their guest but they have been given the lead by British newspapers in disregarding royal wishes for reasonable privacy. It would be a fair concession and an example to others if a close season were now agreed upon and the British correspondents were at least allowed to relax their exertions; and the Princess will return the better for her holiday if she can be treated as a young woman quietly enjoying her first sight of an ancient land and not as a peep-show.

Observation Car: By G. B.

AN aged Chinese emerged from a building on Collinson Street with an armful of assorted soda water, beer, rye and gin bottles and stood them carefully on a two-wheeled pushcart at the curb. He re-entered for a second load, which caused passengers waiting for a bus to remark: "Must have been some party." "I'll bet somebody did not go to work this morning." "How disgusting," and sundry other pointed comments. The old Chinese paid no attention. He selected a clean looking soda water bottle and comfenced to drain the dregs from the others into it. It was not long before the bottle was one-quarter full. With a toothless grin he raised the bottle on high and downed it in three swallows. As he set the "dead soldier" back on his cart, one of the bus passengers inquired: "Hey John, how did it taste?" The old Chinese grinned again and shawered in the best comic strip English: "Him not velly stlong." . . . Two urchins frolicking along Humboldt Street caught sight of piles of clay and forms for concrete footings at the new bus workshop, and dashed over to the property with loud whoops. As if by mutual arrangement, they picked up handfuls of stones and commenced to hurl them at a small greenhouse at the rear of the Crystal Garden. Their pitching showed fair form, but the range was too great. A newspaperman on his way home to dinner advised the boys: "Better get a bit closer if you want to hit that glass." They dropped their stones and slunk off with guilty expressions. . . . A former Victorian who returned this week after having lived three years at Seattle was amazed at rents in this city. He said it was possible to rent a three-room flat or a four or five-room dwelling at Seattle for $30 to $35 per month less than rates charged in Victoria. . . . "I expect the time will come when women get men's wages," Barber Ben commented. "The woman I married gets a man's wages every Saturday," Bill, the Broad Street barber, chuckled.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

It happened in a small roadside restaurant in Southern Alabama. The first thing the tourist noticed when he seated himself in the establishment was the abounding energy of the bustling, good-natured proprietress. Between the chores of taking orders, serving food to her patrons, and lugging dirty dishes back to the kitchen, she was busy shooing and swatting flies.

"Pardon me," remarked the tourist, "but wouldn't it be easier if you screened your place?"

The woman grinned good-naturedly.

"Well yes, I suppose it would help some," she acknowledged; "but don't you think it would look kinder lazy-like?"

The cult of infallible leaders has been vastly overdone.

MORALE BUILDER

The office of a certain small and none too successful produce concern down in Alabama is painfully cramped by reason of a huge old-fashioned iron safe which occupies nearly half of the tiny cubicle.

The other day a curious friend of one of the partners inquired: "Jake, what in the world do you keep in such a large strongbox?"

"Not much," Jake admitted; "two account books and my partner's pearl-handled pistol."

"Then," demanded the other, "why in heaven's name have you got such a large one?"

The produce merchant leaned over and, with the air of a small boy confiding a delicious secret, whispered: "Helps the morale of the creditors!"

Announce University Graduates

An unofficial list of Victoria graduates for the 1948-49 term at University of British Columbia was compiled last night by seven students returned to Victoria from the university.

The volunteers worked from the university list of 2,000 names which was published without addresses or home towns of graduates.

The list cannot be regarded as complete although students worked three hours and went through it several times in The Colonist office.

As a service to interested persons The Colonist will answer telephone inquiries today concerning graduates who could not be identified last night as Victorians.

Grauer Sees Distinction Between Socialists, Reds

A. E. Grauer, president of the British Columbia Electric Railway Co. Ltd., told the Rotary district conference at the Royal Theatre yesterday morning there was a "clear-cut distinction between Socialism and Communism."

The objectives of Communism and Socialism remain theoretically the same, he said, but differ markedly in their ideas of how to achieve these objectives. The Socialists, he said, are sincere in their belief that they can achieve their objectives by the democratic means of the ballot, while the Communists are prepared to do so by revolution.

To those who opposed a so-called capitalistic system, Mr. Grauer said that peoples of the Western countries had developed a much higher standard of living "than ever before in history."

CITES PROGRESS

He declared greatest progress in scientific, engineering and technological matters had been made by man living under the banner of free enterprise.

"Contrary to Socialist teachings," the speaker continued, "the so-called capitalist system has shown a humanitarian side which has in fact produced tremendous results."

He warned that "sincerity divorced from understanding and intelligence is one of the greatest curses of our times." There were far too many Socialists, he observed, who are so sincere that they cannot conceive themselves as being wrong.

In conclusion, Mr. Grauer advocated that "we do not take our hard-won individual liberties for granted."

Arthur J. Boyd of Bellingham, Wash., explained functions of the Rotary Foundation—aimed at providing scholarships for students of other nations, and presented to them on the understanding that their studies will be made in a country other than their own. This, explained Mr. Boyd, did much toward creating international goodwill and understanding.

The foundation, started in 1916, now has funds totaling $2,200,000. The fund is also used, on a secondary basis, for assistance to Rotarians and their families in countries throughout the world where such clubs are established. It is expected about 50 scholarships—ranging from $2,000 to $4,000—will be awarded to qualified students this year.

Last night officially wound up the three-day conference, attended by nearly 1,000 Rotarians and their wives from throughout the Pacific Northwest. They attended a dinner and governor's ball at the Empress Hotel.

Her finger-tip veil was held with a coronet of seed pearls and she carried pink roses, carnations and lily of the valley in crescent-shape.

Colonial bouquets of Spring flowers in shades of deep rose, pink, mauve, and blue provided the color motif for the bride's four attendants: Mrs. W. Among the resolutions passed at the afternoon session was that "the Government be strongly urged to extend to wives, widows and dependents of veterans in receipt of veterans allowances and burned out pensions the same consideration as now received by the old-age pensioners in respect to medical and hospital treatments."

Arena Ceiling Surveyed By Independent Expert

Victoria Theatre Foundation who have booked the arena in July to produce the Starlight Theatre.

Mr. Hamilton said there had been a delay in schedule on the part of one of the major contractors.

"I can't see for the life of me why it can't be opened next month," put in Mr. Hamilton.

"That's June," said Alderman Kent. "Yes."

"For goodness sake be right this time," declared Alderman Kent.

"Where will we get your report on fixing of the ceiling?" asked Alderman Williams.

"The day after I go back," replied Mr. Hamilton.

"Every sheet should be fastened so they won't fall," insisted Alderman Williams.

Mr. Hamilton objected that only loose sheets had to be fastened.

WEEKS AND WEEKS

"Our biggest delay is going to be in that ceiling and it can't be finished in one or two weeks. Somebody is responsible for not going into that before," Alderman Williams told Mr. Hamilton. "It won't be fixed to the satisfaction of all concerned for weeks and weeks and weeks."

Mr. Hamilton said he asked "long ago" for appointment of an independent consulting engineer.

Alderman Baxter said the ceiling would not hold up the Starlight Theatre production.

"How long was it since you were up there?" asked Alderman Williams. He said the Workmen's Compensation Board wanted loose sheets taken down.

Mr. Hamilton said he judged some 20 Fibrerock ceiling sheets were loose. (It had been estimated earlier this year only 17 sheets were loose.) The consulting engineer said it was impossible to tell exactly how many sheets were loose until each one was tested.

"I don't understand why you don't want to fasten all those sheets for your own satisfaction," remarked Alderman Williams.

DOESN'T SEE WHY

Mr. Hamilton said he couldn't see the sense of fastening solid sheets.

Before the meeting was adjourned Mayor George said reports circulated that city officials were responsible for delays in arena construction were without foundation. He insisted, however, there should be somebody on the job directly responsible to City Council.

GIVE FIRST READING

A by-law authorizing the licensing and regulation of owners and drivers of taxicabs and other commercial vehicles operating in the city was given first reading by council yesterday.

Saanich's $270,000 road construction by-law is expected to be opposed in sections of Ward Six.

Famous Artist Draws Smallest Crowd Here

Victoria now has the dubious distinction of turning out what was probably the smallest crowd ever to attend the opening of a show of Lawren Harris' paintings.

Local showing of the famed Canadian artist's work, currently on tour across the Dominion, was viewed yesterday afternoon by a scant handful of the faithful who have stood by the Greater Victoria [illegible] since it was reorganized some months ago.

Committee members were quickly caustic in their remarks on the "insult" to the man whom many critics believe is the greatest artist Canada has ever possessed.

SIXTEEN PAINTINGS

Sixteen of the Harris paintings are on display at the Art Centre, 823 Broughton Street, of the reported 60 in the show which has been hung in other galleries of the Dominion.

The Art Centre people say they have another eight in reserve, but that the present showing is all that the gallery will hold.

Dr. W. Harry Hickman, newly-elected president, opened the Harris show as his first official act as Arts Centre prexy.

Dr. Hickman said that he [illegible] this stature."

"It is entirely Canadian," he stated. "It depicts a new stark, profound Canadian scene."

The speaker said that it was "fatal, futile and false to suggest that everybody should like Harris' work.

"But if you like it or hate it, you should at least know why," he added.

HERE TWO WEEKS

The Harris exhibition will be on display for at least two weeks, it was announced.

Because of limited help at the desk the centre would only be open from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. through the week, and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the two Saturdays, officials said.

The building will be closed all day Sunday and Monday, "at least for the present," they added.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

THE SECRET IS OUT

If you've a secret, don't, I pray,
Let it be known to Sammy Jay.

Sammy Jay can keep a secret. No one can keep a secret better. It all depends on whether he wants to keep it. If it is a secret of his own, you have got to be very smart indeed to find it out. If it is a secret of someone else, the chances are that it very soon will be no secret at all. You see Sammy is a great gossip. Then, too, when he has nothing special to do, he dearly loves to make trouble for his neighbors. It isn't badness, but pure love of mischief that makes Sammy do this. Peter Rabbit knows all this. No one knows it better. So as soon as Peter saw Sammy he knew that the secret of the presence in the Green Forest of Big Tom Gobbler and Mrs. Gobbler would soon be a secret no longer. He said as much and Sammy Jay became very indignant.

"I guess I can keep a secret just as well as you can, Peter Rabbit," he declared. "If anyone can keep a secret better than I can, it certainly isn't one of the Rabbit family."

Peter grinned. He rather enjoys seeing Sammy Jay lose his temper, I am sorry to say.

"It all depends on whether you want to keep it or not, and I've noticed that you seldom want to," said he.

"Quit, quit, quit," said Big Tom. "Isn't that just like a Jay?"

"I certainly don't want to keep this secret," snapped Sammy, who was a little put out by the fact that Peter had found out about Big Tom and Mrs. Gobbler before he had. "There are enough people living here without any new ones, goodness knows."

"Quit, quit, quit," said Big Tom. "Isn't that like a Jay? I know the Jay family and it is mighty little good I know of them."

"Oh, Sammy doesn't mean anything by what he says," Peter hurried to say. "He talks just to hear his own voice. I've known him to do some of the nicest things. Really I have."

"Then he's different from the Jays I've known," spluttered Big Tom, glaring up at Sammy and getting very red in the face.

Sammy glared back—too angry to speak. Then without a word he turned and flew away. Peter sighed regretfully. He knew that Sammy had gone to spread the news all through the Green Forest and over the Green Meadows and he had wanted to be the first to tell the news himself.

"The secret is out now," said he, turning to Big Tom, "everybody'll know it before the day is over. I hope you'll stay just the same."

"Gobble-obble-obble!" said Big Tom. "Gobble-obble-obble! We'll stay. People as big as we are bound to be discovered sooner or later. We've had time to get acquainted with the Green Forest, so I guess it doesn't matter now how soon it is known that we are here. I suspect that we'll have to keep a right smart watch for visitors now."

"I suspect you will," replied Peter. "Old Man Coyote and Reddy Fox won't lose any time in making you a visit once they know you are here. I guess I'll go home and tell Mrs. Peter."

With this, Peter started for the dear Old Briar-patch, lipperty-lipperty-lip, as fast as he could go.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

THAT WORD "ANATOMY"

As botany is a study of plants and their structure, anatomy is understood in common parlance to be the study of the body. Strictly speaking, there are technical terms to distinguish human anatomy—anthropotomy—from the animal anatomy or zootomy, but long usage explains the acceptance of anatomy in the way Fuller used it in these lines:

"The anatomy of a little child, representing all parts thereof, is accounted a greater rarity than the skeleton of a man in full stature."

In other words, the body or frame of the child. And before Fuller, Shakespeare wrote:

"They brought one Pinch, a hungry, lean-faced villain, a mere anatomy."

Now certainly Shakespeare alluded to his Pinch all in one piece, as one is inclined to use the word anatomy today. The fact is, however, that the primary use of the word, its essential meaning, is the cutting up through which men first learned much of what they know about the human body.

Specifically, "anatomy" comes from the French "anatomie," from the Latin "anatomia," out of the Greek word meaning dissection. Literally the Greeks had this word for to cut up.

No More Harsh Laxatives!
Famous cereal brings lasting relief from constipation
Are harsh laxatives causing you distress and unhappiness? Then read this unsolicited letter:

"About 8 months ago, I decided to start eating KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. After a few days, I realized that regular use of this breakfast cereal was making my system work naturally. Constipation doesn't trouble me any more. Believe me, it's a great relief!" P. Lamoille, 4465 Rivard Street, Montreal.
Yes, if you suffer from constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet, you may never have to take another harsh laxative again. Simply eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN daily and drink plenty of water.
ALL-BRAN is not a purgative, but a wholesome cereal. Eat an ounce as a cereal or in muffins for constipation relief. If after using one package you are not completely satisfied, get double your money back as guaranteed on the package. Get delicious ALL-BRAN from your grocer. Made by Kellogg's of London, Ontario.

At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE Montgomery Clift, handsome Broadway actor, is now hailed as the screen's newest heart-throb. Clift plays the role of the sympathetic American G.I. in M-G-M's much-discussed drama, "The Search." Co-starring is lovely Jarmila Novotna, famous Metropolitan Opera star.

CAPITOL THEATRE "Canadian Pacific," the new Twentieth Century-Fox release, is the screen's first big pioneer railroad epic in a decade and only the third in cinema annals. Filmed in brilliant Cinecolor, Canadian Pacific stars Randolph Scott, with Jane Wyatt, J. Carroll Naish, Victor Jory and exciting screen newcomer, Nancy Olson.

PLAZA THEATRE "Gung Ho," starring Randolph Scott, J. Carroll Naish, Noah Beery, Jr., Grace McDonald. The United States Marine Corps took vital parts in the making of the picture.

OAK BAY THEATRE Cary Grant in a most engaging role co-stars with Loretta Young and David Niven in "The Bishop's Wife," Samuel Goldwyn's comedy. Monty Woolley is top-featured as one of the problems Grant solves in the cleric's circle of friends.

ROYAL THEATRE Hollywood has been buzzing for months about an hilarious new comedy which is said to boast one of the most unusual story ideas yet put on film. Entitled "A Letter to Three Wives," the Twentieth Century-Fox comedy has an all-star cast with Jeanne Crain, Linda Darnell and Ann Sothern in the title roles. They play wives, respectively, of Jeffrey Lynn, Broadway star Paul Douglas in his first film role, and Kirk Douglas.

ODEON THEATRE Susan Hayward, Robert Preston and Pedro Armendariz are starred in "Tulsa," which is set against the rugged, ruthless days when the oil industry was getting started and every means was used to gain power with no holds barred.

Uncertain Destiny

By BETTY WEBB

CHAPTER II—Continued

"I'll ignore that last remark and tell you," Sally said smiling, "that Hugh and I are stiff in the honeymoon stage, and Linda and Kyle are to be married next June."

"June, huh?" Diane eyed Linda carefully. "Do you love him, Linda?"

Linda reddened, confused by the direct question. Diane had always been famous for her frankness. Despite her fragile appearance her tongue could be sharp, and, as she had once admitted, she "never minced words."

"W-w-why of course I do." Linda cried indignantly. "We've been engaged four years."

"What is Kyle doing? Does he have a good job?"

Linda dropped her eyes to her plate. He—he isn't working just now."

"Oh?"

"It isn't his fault," Linda defended her sweetheart passionately. "It's just that he's had a streak of bad luck. Everything will be all right as soon as he's on his feet again."

Diane's voice was silkily smooth. "And Linda will be a housewife, with a little cottage and a baby or two, and the Brairievale Sewing Society to occupy her spare time. Won't that be cozy?"

Linda felt her cheeks redden hotly. How dared Diane make it sound so—so cheerless!

"I think it sounds wonderful!" defiantly.

"Of course you do." Diane said smoothly. "Of course. I quite understand."

Linda felt that Diane had not entirely understood the situation, that she could not know how Linda really felt toward Kyle Norman. She was, as always, a trifle uneasy in Diane's presence. Somehow this shrewd and worldly young woman had a way of revealing the truth.

"I've arranged to meet a few of the girls to do some last minute shopping for Betty," Diane was saying. "You know—extra flowers and things. Poor Betty has so much on hand that I promised to help out. Two of the girls are her bridesmaids, and I'm sure you'll like them, Linda."

"You're sure I won't be interfering?" Linda questioned anxiously. "After all, they probably know Sally, and since I'm a stranger—"

Diane smiled, slipping an arm around the shoulder of her timorous friend. "Of course not, honey, I'm sure they'll like you very much."

"I hope so," Linda whispered fervantly. "I do hope so." In a sudden burst of confidence, she cried, "I'm so unlike you, Diane, or you, Sally. I never know what to say to people!"

"Then take a tip from me, darling," Diane grinned wickedly. "Act as though you owned the world, and people will think you really do."

The confidence in her voice buoyed Linda as the three of them taxied downtown, ad listening to the lilting of the others' voices, she busied herself in imaginary conversation with Diane's friends—preparing herself for what Sally might consider exciting, yet which to Linda was an ordeal—the ordeal of meeting strangers.

CHAPTER III

When Linda entered the lobby of a famous midtown hotel with Sally and Diane, they were met by a bevy of smartly-clad friends—Diane's friends, and as they conversed gaily, Linda stood back, nonplussed. She suddenly was aware of her shabbiness, of the dated cut to her coat and the fact that the hat she had believed to be so smart in Prairievale resembled an old mop, compared with these tiny, feathered or befurred chapeaux.

Diane introduced her friends to Linda so rapidly that names whizzed by her ears without apparent connection with these polite strangers. She nodded and smiled confusedly, until a dark-haired, vivacious girl stopped Diane short.

"I'm afraid Diane is making it difficult for you," she said. "I'm Mary Baridon, and any friend of Mary's is a friend of yours, so come along with me and I'll see that you get acquainted with the others.

It was as easy as that. Throughout the morning and early afternoon, while the girls hastened to and fro in an orgy of shopping, Linda stayed close beside her new friend, and through her she became acquainted with the others.

She learned that Mary Baridon lived in Chicago. Her father raised thoroughbred horses and Mary rode them in society horse shows. She became acquainted with a tall blond beauty wearing a mink coat. The girl's name was Brenda Jordon, and she was, Mary explained to Linda, to be married the following month to a wealthy Chicago manufacturer. Brenda eyed Linda closely, and said in a tone that implied she was none too interested, "So you're Betty Allison's cousin. Did you go to school together?"

"Oh, no," Linda admitted readily. "I've seen Betty only a few times in my life. You see, I didn't go to college."

Linda had been quite honest, but now she could see Brenda's shoulders shrug as though she was thinking, "I'm afraid you're hardly the type of person to interest me."

According to Culbertson

Copyright, 1949, by Ely Culbertson

College boys and girls are becoming much more proficient at contract bridge, due in large part, perhaps, to the yearly inter-collegiate tournament which is drawing more and more contestants from the universities.

The first round of these tournaments is conducted on a sort of "Olympic" basis, with selected players from each competing college bidding and playing a set of "made-up" hands which are more effective in testing skill than run-of-the-mill shuffled hands. The high scorers then compete against each other in an ordinary tournament.

The Bridge World Magazine, reporting on this inter-collegiate event, observed that although the play of the six-spade contract which East is supposed to reach, is rather difficult, quite a few youthful declarers were equal to the task.

One of the difficult deals submitted in the preliminary Olympic round was this:

East, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	NORTH
	♠ 9 7 6 4
	♥ A 9 4 3
	♦ J 9 4
	♣ J 5
WEST		EAST
♠ 3 2		♠ A K Q J 10 5
♥ K Q J 7 2		♥ —
♦ 7 3		♦ A K 8 2
♣ Q 8 7 2		♣ A 9 6
	SOUTH
	♠ 8
	♥ 10 8 6 5
	♦ Q 10 6 5
	♣ K 10 4 3

In many cases South opened his singleton spade against the slam contract. The right and winning play then is: East wins the trump lead, dashes his two high diamonds and ruffs a diamond, then leads the heart king through North with the intention of discarding unless the ace comes up. North should and does play the ace, however, and East ruffs.

It is patently futile for East to ruff his last diamond in dummy—an opponent will certainly overruff—so East draws the outstanding trumps and then exits with his fourth diamond. His hope, of course, is to find the winning diamond held by the same defender who holds the club king. South is "elected" in that sense, and after he wins the diamond he must lead away from the club king, letting declarer win with dummy's queen and discard a club on a good heart.

Wied Defence to Start In Assize Court Today

George F. Gregory will launch his defence of Jacob E. Wied in Assize Court today as his client's murder trial goes into its third day.

Crown Prosecutor W. H. M. Haldane, assisted by Lloyd G. McKenzie, wound up the case against Wied late yesterday after a day of police and medical evidence.

Wied's life is in the hands of an Assize Court jury for the second time on the charge that he murdered his wife, Evelyn. His first trial resulted in a conviction and death sentence that was set aside last January when the Court of Appeal ordered a new trial on the murder charge.

Constable Alden Appleton and Detective Alexander Briggs took the witness stand yesterday to describe the disordered contents of the Wieds' room at 1025 Yates Street as they saw it last July 17.

Both described in detail how they had repeatedly asked Wied what happened, and were told "I don't know," before Wied declared he had been out of the room and in an upstairs bathroom at the time his wife was wounded.

Under cross-examination by Mr. Gregory, Constable Appleton said Mrs. Wied heard her husband tell police officers she fell on a knife, and made no objection to the statement.

Detective Briggs told Mr. Gregory he said to Wied "You are stupid because you are drunk," and said if he had found Wied in control of a car "I would have taken him to the police station to be examined by a doctor."

Appleton, Briggs and two other police officers testified that Wied had asked permission to accompany his wife to the hospital, and said that no one answered Mrs. Wied's question: "Aren't you coming to the hospital with me, dear?"

[illegible] cer, cross-examined by Mr. Gregory, said when he told Wied his wife was dead, Wied replied, "Why didn't you take me to see her?"

Dr. George Bissett said Mrs. Wied died shortly after he had left her after four hours' attention when she had seemed to be recovering in Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Dr. R. G. McNeely, pathologist at Royal Jubilee Hospital, reported a post mortem examination of Mrs. Wied revealed a wound four inches deep.

He said of three possibilities of how a knife would cause the wound, it might have happened "easily" if held by someone else, "possibly" if the victim held it and fell against another object, and said it would be "improbable" that she could stab herself in that position.

Under cross-examination he said not much force would be required to inflict the wound.

Both doctors admitted that on the surface the wound would not appear fatal to a layman.

Over 100 Fifth Street Residents Protest B.C.E. Overhead Line

Petition signed by more than 100 Fifth Street property owners and residents was filed yesterday at City Hall along with a "vigorous" protest against City Council's decision granting a B.C. Electric Company application to erect an overhead high tension line along Fifth Street.

"We realize that our city has grown and with its growth more power facilities are necessary," residents protested. "But is is addmitted Victoria is not a backwoods village. There are other factors than the electric company's expediency which demand consideration. It is high time that steps were taken to remove existing unsightly poles and power lines to underground locations, and that every effort was made to prevent an aggravation of this altogether undesirable situation."

Granting of the B.C. Electric application was termed a "backward step" calculated to depreciate the value of Fifth Street properties.

"We urge that City Council do not issue a permit to the company pending further investigation," the petition stated. "We do not believe the company would defy the City Council if in its wisdom it should see fit to delay action until a better means, or at least a better route, should be found."

GAVE DESIRED ROUTE

When the petition was reviewed by council yesterday, Alderman Baxter said the city could have given the company any route it wished, [illegible] route they wanted."

Mayor George said work in the new highline was not slated to get under way until the Autumn. He said the city could request the company to hold off its plans until the matter was investigated further.

Council acted on his suggestion the matter be placed in the hands of the public works committee in order to bring company officials and petitioners together across a conference table.

Prize Winners Named For Kinsmen Auto Show

There is somebody in Victoria who is richer by a $300 combination radio, or automatic, washing machine—but doesn't know it.

The lucky ticket, drawn at the conclusion of the Victoria Kinsmen's Spring Auto Show last Saturday night is ticket No. 13369.

Due to the rush of patrons at the door at the Bay Street Armoury there was no name written on the stub of the ticket, and Kinsmen have no clue to the identity of the lucky winner.

The person holding the winning ticket is requested to contact Jack Phillion at E 8615 or E 4576.

Mrs. M. G. Stovel, 2369 Dunlevy Street, won a cash prize of $100 for having the closest estimate to the number of miles a wheel would turn in a 39-hour period. Mrs. Stovel guessed the distance at 445 miles and the correct reading was 444.9 miles.

H. W. Smith, 520 Linden Avenue, was another winner. He correctly estimated the number of car parts that were in a sealed jar. His guess of 129 won him a revolving car spotlight.

Another contest, "The Goldrush of '49," was won by Mrs. C. S. Hyland. She staked her "claim" at the northern tip of Woss Lake on Vancouver Island and will shortly receive $25 for choosing the correct location.

Kinsmen officials said that prizes would be presented to the winners at the Kinsmen Club meeting in the Pacific Club on Thursday, May 19, at 8 p.m.

Soccer Final Postponed Indefinitely

Just when the Garrison Cup final will be played is yet to be decided. Billed for tonight at Heywood Avenue after one postponement, the match between Oak Bay and Esquimalt, second and first-half winners, respectively, of the Victoria and District Football Association, has once more been postponed.

This time, Esquimalt pleaded inability to field a club because several players are busily engaged in Summer sports. It was Oak Bay who asked for the first postponement for a similar reason. Secretary Reg Clarke stated last night that a decision as to the next date will have to wait until circumstances are favorable.

World Champion Indians Lose Third to Senators

By The Canadian Press

Rain blanketed the Eastern United States yesterday and gave baseball's National League cure the case of the jitters. And as far as at least two baseball players are concerned, the cure couldn't come fast enough.

The unhappy pair are rookie Pitcher Mickey Harfner of the Boston Red Sox and veteran Steve Gromek of Cleveland Indians, both of whom put in the afternoon pitching better-than-average games only to wind up with a loss charged against their records.

Yesterday Gromek and Stobbs allowed three runs between them.

Stobbs pitched a three-hitter against St. Louis Browns who hadn't won a game in their last 10 starts and lost 2-1. Gromek limited Washington Senators to a single tally and lost 1-0.

ONE HITTER FOR HAFFNER

Gromek's trouble was that he was facing Mickey Haefner, veteran Washington knuckleballer, on one of the most terrific afternoons of his career. Mickey gave Larry Doby a single in the first inning and kept the Tribe hitless the rest of the way. A walk sandwiched by a pair of singles produced Senators' tally in the fourth inning.

Haefner didn't strike out a man but the only Clevelanders on the base-paths apart from Doby were three recipients of walks and a hit batsman. The win was Washington's eighth straight.

WINNER DECIDES DUEL

A ninth-inning homer by Jerry Priddy broke up the duel between Stobbs and Red Embree of the Browns. Ted Williams hit his sixth home run of the year to start the Red Sox off in the first inning but Priddy clouted Dick Kryhoski home with the lone run in the third.

New York Yankees clutched their American League lead to four games by downing the second-place Detroit Tigers 6-1. Hal Newhouser had a no-hitter for four innings, but run into trouble in the ninth when the Yanks drove him to cover with a four-run outburst.

YANKS LOSE BERRA

The Yanks lost first-string catcher Larry Berra during the game. He was struck on the head by a thrown ball and knocked unconscious. X-rays showed no serious injury and he was expected back in the New York line-up within two or three days.

Three assorted Chicago pitchers dished out another one-hit game under the [illegible] after the White Sox lost 5-0 to Philadelphia Athletics but the Sox batters had only themselves to blame.

While they held the A's hitless with three safeties they contributed 11 walks more than enough to ensure the Mackmen of victory.

Life of Sam Breadon Rags-to-Riches Tale

ST. LOUIS, May 10 (CP)—Sam Breadon, the man who made St. Louis Cardinals a baseball [illegible] he was 22.

Breadon originally [illegible] $35 a week as the Cardinals' [illegible] friend." He and the club [illegible] Robert Hannegan and Fred M. Saigh for a reported $4,000,000 in November 1947.

Mr. Robert F. Hyland, who attended Breadon and the former Red Bird president died at 6:45 p.m. C.S.T. He had been in hospital since March 29.

With him when he died were Mrs. Breadon and their daughter. Mrs. Robert F. Cose. Breadon also is survived by a daughter by a former marriage, Mrs. Robert L. Hedges of Montclair, N.J.

Breadon's life was a regular rags-to-riches story. He left school after the Eighth Grade but his colleges graduate was a better businessman.

STARTED SELLING POPCORN

His first venture here was the vending of popcorn during the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904. He talked a popcorn manufacturer into giving him about 40 cases on credit.

The parade onlookers bought his popcorn and he showed his first profit, $35.

FIGURED STOCK WRONG

From that he moved into the automobile business. He stayed in that business until the late 1920's when he sold out to buy into baseball.

About his first $200 investment in the club Breadon recalled later: "I missed that money good and but a short time later I bought more stock and felt I was a sucker for doing it."

He purchased $1,800 worth at a club dinner. Later he raised his total investment to $250,000. He was offered the presidency in 1920.

During the 27 years he led the Cardinals the team won nine National League pennants and six world championships.

Ex-P.C.L. Star Inspires Awe By Plate Work

CHICAGO, May 10 (AP).—"When he gets on a real hitting streak, he'll kill a couple umpires and knock the boards over in the fence."

That was Casey Stengel, New York Yankee manager, talking about outfielder Dave Zernial of Chicago White Sox, the swaggering 210-pound rookie now batting a stirring .364.

Stengel peeked around the corner of the visitors' dugout at Comiskey Park and nodded at the bat-wielding Zernial.

"His power is amazing. He's liable to flatten an infielder on first a bounder."

One of the big reasons the White Sox experimented with their new-defunct "homer fence" was Zernial's big mace which poled 40 circuit clouts and drove across 154 runs for Hollywood last season.

But Zernial with his screaming line drives, apparently was more determined to knock down the phoney homer chicken coop than to place lazy fly balls in it. Zernial has only two homers to date, while he has hit eight two-baggers, tops in league.

In 74 trips the six-foot three inch Zernial has poled 28 hits, sharing the league lead in that department with Hank Majeski and Sam Chapman both of the Athletics.

DO GUMS BLEED? then watch out for dreaded PYORRHEA

If your gums are sore and bleed when you brush your teeth—this is often the first sign of dreaded Pyorrhea, a bad gum infection where gums recede, pus sockets form around teeth and in time teeth get loose and have to be pulled.

So, see your dentist and start using Forhan's For The Gums at once. Forhan's not only makes teeth gleam with a beautiful sparkling lustre, it also checks bleeding gums, helps gums be firmer with a lovely healthy pinkness. Notice the difference in the way your gums and teeth soon feel and look. Recommended by Dentists.

Windjammers to Race Perhaps for Last Time

Marine News

Two tall sailing ships are embarking on what may be the last windjammer race of the seven seas.

Sailing non-stop from Port Victoria, near Adelaide, Australia, to Falmouth, England, the trip around the Horn may take 90 or 100 days. More likely, the ships, the Pamir and the Passat, both Flinman, will need 120 to 130 days.

WINDJAMMER PAMIR

The Pamir and the Passat are the sole survivors of the annual grain race from South Australian waters to Britain. In its way this race is as famous as the tea clipper races of a century ago.

Port Victoria, on Spencer Gulf, on the southern coast of Australia, is the outlet for one of the richest wheat and barley growing regions in Australia. People there have seen the grain ships leave each year for a generation.

It is not long ago that as many as 70 sailing ships — barques, brigs and square-riggers — came up to the big land-locked bay in a season.

The Passat and Pamir are both four-masted barques. Neither ship is a flier.

The hard beat around the Horn will take both ships several weeks. Last year the best time was 130 days.

The Pamir is well known in Victoria waters.

LAUNCH FERRY

The vessel Joseph Jacob Henkel, more commonly known here as the Francoise Lake ferry, was launched into Francoise Lake yesterday afternoon, reports E. W. Izard, general manager at Yarrows Ltd., builders of the 116-foot vessel.

Capable of carrying 16 average-sized trucks and upwards of 120 passengers, the ferry was built at the local shipyard, dismantled, sent in sections first to Burns Lake and ing then by road to its destination.

Mr. Izard noted that travel over the 18-mile roadway was made at night when roads were hard with frost. Such travel, with such heavy sections, would have been impossible during daytime. One of the sections weighed about 18 tons. The ferry was built for the British Columbia Government's Department of Public Works.

Yarrows workmen, who were in charge of the transportation of the sections, the rebuilding and the launching, were flown to Prince George and from that city went by car over 120 miles of roadway to Francoise Lake.

The ferry is powered by two 160-horsepower Diesel engines.

LAUNCH CRUISER

L. A. Genge's new 40-foot cruiser Tichuk was officially launched at 3 p.m. Tuesday, at the shipyard of McKay, Cormack Ltd., as the wife of the owner smashed a bottle of champagne against the bow of the trim new vessel.

The Tichuk was later towed to sea by the tug Polar Forcite, as a crowd of 70 or more persons, gathered to witness the launching, looked on.

Construction was under direction of yard superintendent William Barber and engineer Gordon Pratt.

The Tichuk is powered by two engines, has a top speed of nearly 14 knots and will sleep six.

All controls necessary for the vessel's operation are housed in a nine-by-nine-foot pilot house.

Designer of the Tichuk is naval architect L. Monk of Seattle.

C.S.U. BENEFITS

The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) yesterday claimed it collected more than $300 in Vancouver in a "march of dimes" drive for their own benefit.

James Thompson, Western vice-president, said Vancouverites tossed the coins into a blanket carried by four C.S.U. men Sunday in a postponed May Day parade.

He said public support of their current strike was "gratifying."

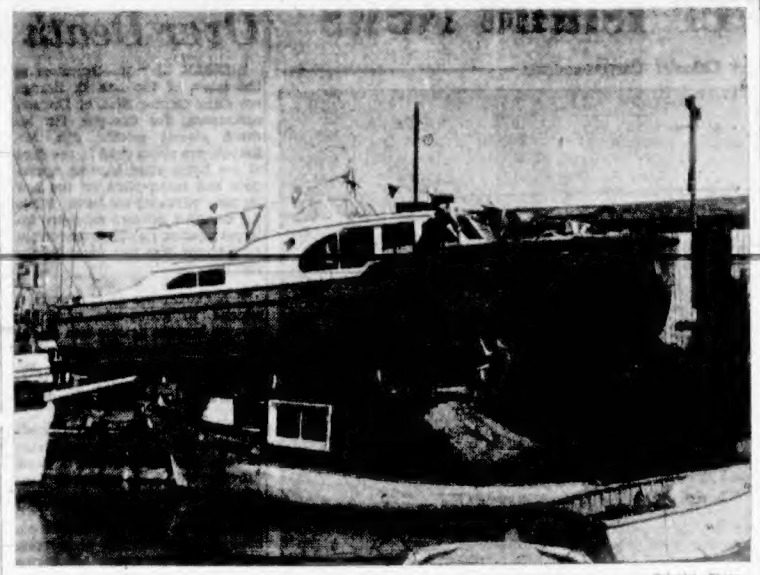
An additional 342,500 pounds was sold to the Co-Operative at the advance price.

Modern Cruiser Launched Here



—Colonist Photo.

L. A. Genge's smart and modern cruiser Tichuk slipped down ways of McKay, Cormack Ltd. shipyard yesterday afternoon, but required services of tug before entering water. Vessel, powered by two 125-horsepower Diesel engines, will do top speed of about 14 knots. She was christened by wife of owner, and within short time will join ranks of South Vancouver Island's large fleet of pleasure craft.

Only Dream Last Week, Car Now Real

A shiny new 1949 car was only a dream last week for Mr. and Mrs. Speck Schneiderman, 842 Johnson Street.

This week the happy couple are cruising around town in a swank new model, "new look" et al.

However, there's a trick to this—they had to win a Canadian Legion raffle in Vancouver.

"We're nervous wrecks. Nothing has ever happened to us like this before," said Mrs. Schneiderman last night.

HARD TO BELIEVE

After answering a simple question, the Victoria couple were presented with the car at the Seaforth Armoury, Vancouver. Back in Victoria now, they still find it hard to believe.

Mr. Schneiderman bought three tickets about three months ago, and had almost forgotten about them when the happy news arrived. The third ticket won. So a $2,500 car cost the Schneidermans $3.

The raffle was in aid of a fund for construction of a new building for war amputees.

JOIN STRIKE

The 34 Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) crew members of the Furness-Withy freighter Beacon Grange, which docked in Montreal Monday, collected their pay yesterday and joined the general C.S.U. strike.

Meanwhile, 18 C.S.U. members of the crew of the Canadian National Steamships freighter Canadian Observer, who joined the strike after the ship docked Monday, failed to turn up at the shipping master's office for their pay.

Eight other members of the C.N.S. freighter's crew joined the rival Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) and signed back on the vessel.

Port Alberni Aldermen Set 60-Mill Tax Rate

PORT ALBERNI, May 10.—The Port Alberni City Council set the tax rate at 60 mills. A breakdown of the mill rate shows that it is divided as follows: Debt, 19.8 mills; school purposes, 24.55 mills; and general purposes of the municipality, 15.60 mills.

The council also called for tenders on 4 per cent depentures to the amount of $55,000. They are to cover By-Laws No. 808 and No. 809, $25,000 for paving and $30,000 for a swimming pool and bath house.

A report was read from the arbitration board that sat on the recent dispute between the council and the school board, and the award of the board showed that the total for school expenditures this year will be $196,575.

The school board made an application for $30,000 on account, for immediate school purposes, which was granted.

Resignation of Alderman Walter Yates was received and accepted with regret.

Nomination day for the two aldermanic seats, caused by the resignations of Aldermen Vincent Rush and Yates, is slated for May 27 and by-election day will be June 2. Frank L. Kitto, city clerk, will be returning officer.

Seven by-laws were read, covering many phases in the operation of the city. Two representatives of the B.C. Teachers' Federation sought endorsation of a resolution that is to go before the meeting of the Union of B.C. Municipalities at Victoria on September 8 and 9.

The resolution deals with the right of school teachers to hold municipal office, a disability they suffer now under the Municipal Act. Some of the aldermen and the mayor were in favor of the teachers holding office, but with reservations. The council decided to discuss the matter in committee.

Set Delegate At Shawnigan

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, May 10.—H. G. Webber will represent Malahat Branch of the Canadian Legion during the Provincial convention at Victoria, it was decided at a recent meeting in the S.L.A.A. Hall. I. Monk was elected second vice-president and publicity agent.

Mr. Webber presented a report on the district council meeting. G. W. Stilwell outlined plans for social activities. Resignation of A. R. Hawkins, secretary, was accepted with regret.

Plans for a 500 party in the S.L.A.A. Hall on Friday were made during a meeting of the Women's Auxiliary presided over by Mrs. G. Orr.

Group to Pay Jubilee Prize

NANAIMO, May 10. — The Nanaimo jubilee committee will offer a prize of $100 to any child up to 16 years who ranks first in the Roy Gordon Hollywood Starlets local competition, Alan Burdock, manager of the celebration committee, announced on Tuesday.

The winner will be judged by applause received at the state revue and talent quest to be held in the Civic Arena on May 21. The successful child will compete at Vancouver for a further test to be held at Hollywood.

The big jubilee celebration parade here already has 50 entries, with the bulk expected next week. Dawson Gordon is parade committee chairman.

Doreen Dobinson, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Dobinson, topped school children's efforts with her poem about the celebration. Her effort included a realistic portrayal of Chewetchekan, the coal tyee, who discovered "black rock" on Newcastle Island 100 years ago.

The Nanaimo Gun Club's Vancouver Island championship trap shoot will be held in connection with the jubilee celebration. It is scheduled for May 21 and 22.

Alberni Veterans Stage Sterling Field Sports

PORT ALBERNI, May 10. — Alberni Branch No. 168, Canadian Legion, commemorated "V-E" Day at Sterling Field, Alberni, with a day of sports for adults and children.

Features of the sports were a baby contest, the Somass Derby, and a long-distance race from the Post Office at Port Alberni to Sterling Field.

Baby contest winners were: Three to six months old, William Stanley McBride; six months to one year, Douglas Skinner, and 13 months to two years old, Ronald Everett, who will be two years old on May 27.

The Somass Derby was won by Elliot's Royal Boy. The rider was Bernice Osborne, and her winning ride made John Haigh that much richer, as he held the winning ticket on her horse.

Dick Morgan finished first in the two-mile run between the twin cities. Dick Gus ran second and Cecil Roberts finished third. The boys received a great hand as they entered the field toward the finish line.

Alberni Branch of the Canadian Legion defeated the Port Alberni Branch in the tug-of-war, two pulls to one.

A parade was held from the Elementary School at Alberni to the field. A pipe band led off, followed by many floats including a "King and Queen" float, Riding Club, Girl Guides, school floats and decorated bicycles. Parade marshal was Edward Cozens.

The day wound up with a dance in the R.C.E.M.E. Hall, sponsored by the Port and Alberni Legions.

While the deceased suffered extensive internal injuries no object that could have struck him was found in the vicinity.

Duncan Volunteer Fire Brigade members have started a campaign to raise funds to purchase a panel delivery truck to transport their inhalator to various parts of the district in a hurry. In the past it has gone out on call on the old hose wagon which has been found too slow and unreliable. Appearing before the council were Firemen Norman Hedley and William Arthur. They got quick action. Mayor J. C. Wragg pointed out that the district was surrounded by water, also a large number of industries were close in, all of which are given the service free when summoned. By a unanimous vote, the council started the subscription off with a grant of $250.

City to Repair Broken Roads

PORT ALBERNI, May 10.—The Port Alberni city council will undertake an extensive program of hard surfacing and repairs to the many roads within the city limits that suffered extensive damage through frost during the Winter.

Scrapers, trucks and all the heavy equipment of the city will be brought into use. Already a strip between the post office and Argyle Street has been ripped up and the base laid for a hard surface. The 21-foot strip will extend to the bottom of the hill at Dunbar Street. Port Alberni owns its own gravel pit and mulch plant.

Hurt in Crash At Parksville

PARKSVILLE, May 10.—Robert Brown of Alberni escaped with bruises and shock when his heavy truck went out of control near the Rod and Gun Hotel and turned over on a vacant lot near the Ainley Dress Shop, narrowly missing the wall of the building. When approaching Parksville en route from Alberni, the hydraulic brakes failed. Brown showed great presence of mind by swinging the truck on to the lot when he realized he could not stop at the busy intersection. Damage to the truck was estimated at $400. Constable P. R. Hutchinson investigated.
